I'D REALLY BE HAPPY IF GAO
HADN'T A GIRL

WHY THE TRANSLATION COMES SO SLOW?

Actually, I finished the translation of this chapter three weeks ago. However, I could not release it, because I sensed that there were still many problems in the translation. And the problems were mostly about not being able to express the Japanese meaning in English well enough. Even now, I am still not yet satisfied with the translation.

Therefore, what does that mean? I would say that means: should a good proofreader join this project, the quality, the pace of this project will definitely become better.

So far, I have been having NeonsShadow (from my Sis Plus project) and Mariolan (from Cyclops Shoujo Saipu project) proofread translations of this project for me, but I believe that an another separate proofreader for this project would be a great help for me to reduce my dependence on them as every one has their own business.

So, if you really love this series, you want to help and you are confident that you can understand and rewrite unclear sentences written by non-native English speaker (me), don't hesitate to send me your application. In addition, dedication is also required as I believe that this kind of work should never be done decently without dedication of the worker.
